

No Trump Card: The First Fifty-Six Days After Babylon the Great City Fell (Paperback)

By W Lawrence Lipton

Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, United States, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . The first 56-days of Trump's Administration was marked by calls of DUMP TRUMP without regard for the realities of his a salesman's apolitical approach to management and the keeping of promises. Numerous books describe how the Trumps echoed and followed PT Barnum's assertion that the vastness of America made it a land where wealth was to be made. The Trump family made full use of that vast land and opportunity, going from an immigrant who built a hotel for Gold Rush prospectors, to a New York city apartment house builder, and on to a man who took that American dream global without departing from his roots. His projects included hotels, resorts, apartments and office buildings. He is reputed to have studied Adolf Hitler's 1923 thesis on the British use of Propaganda to defeat Germany and saw its applicability in American Politics. The realization made him POTUS and his Real Estate skills defined his first eight weeks, as they will doubtless define whatever tenure he might enjoy. In this book, the author -- who was himself Director...

Reviews

The most effective publication I have ever read. We have study and I am sure that I will likely to read yet again once again in the foreseeable future. You will not truly feel monotony at anytime of your time (that's what catalogs are for about in the event you request me).

-- Mr. Rafael Hoeger

This publication is really gripping and exciting. It really is basic but unexpected situations in the 50 % in the book. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.
