FBC LTD, 2018. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Foreign Crops and Markets, Vol. 84: January 1, 1962 Venezuela's 1962 sesame seed crop to be harvested in January and February is expected to be down sharply from the record short tons produced in 1961. Unofficially the outturn is placed at about tons. In the State of Portuguesa, which in 1961 accounted for 83 percent of the total sesame area and 91 percent of the production, heavy rains have damaged the crop. In addition, planting was delayed because of the difficulty of obtaining suitable seed, and this has resulted in slightly smaller acreage and late harvesting. Moreover, lack of credit also is given as a reason for smaller plantings. In the Paraguana region, sesame had to be planted twice because of lack of rain, and even with good rains for the remainder of the growing period, production probably will be down from last year.
